Process

The precise stages involved in the sale of a residential leasehold property vary according to the circumstances. However, below we have suggested some key stages that you may wish to include:

- Take your instructions and give you initial advice.
- Obtain a redemption figure for your existing mortgage and advise you of the balance owing.
- Obtain copies of your title, together with relevant documents.
- Receive the memorandum of sale from the estate agents.
- Issue draft contract documents.
- Deal with all pre-contract enquiries raised by the buyer's solicitors and assist you in also providing replies.
- Obtain further planning documentation on your behalf, if required.
- Send final contract and transfer to you for signature.
- Agree completion date (date from which you own the property).
- Exchange contracts and notify you that this has happened.
- Receive the purchase monies from the buyer's solicitors and complete your sale.
- Settle your mortgage redemption and estate agent's fees together with payment of any outstanding ground rent or service charge arrears.
- Deal with any post-completion points.

How long will my sale take?

How long it will take from you accepting an offer until you complete your sale will depend on a number of factors. The average process takes between 8-10 weeks. It can be quicker or slower, depending on the parties in the chain.

*Our fee assumes that:

- c. the transaction is concluded in a timely manner and no unforeseen complication arise.
- d. all parties to the transaction are co-operative and there is no unreasonable delay from third parties providing documentation.
- e. no indemnity policies are required. Additional disbursements may apply if indemnity policies are required.
- f. the legal title is not defective.
- g. the legal title is registered.
- h. all crucial documents requested are provided and we do not have to chase for these from our client.
